

We will store data in Nosql Json document at MongoDB atlas (MongoDB cloud server).

Each document will have a corresponded class. Besides that, we will have a class that will handle the connection of DB.

For example we will have a userData class, which represent each user data in user document. And we can use a DB class to retrieve the data from database.

